INCREASE IN GAS LEVY IS CRITICIZED

Former Attorney-General Looks for Challenge in Court Which May Prejudice Existing Tax

ATTITUDE OF AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Charge That Levies Will Not Be Earmarked for Highway Improvement Is Contradicted

THE debate on the gasoline tax before the Legislature last night afforded the opportunity for a review of all the differences between the two parties with respect to the handling of the motor licences and the gasoline taxes of the province.

The Opposition took the ground that the Government was not going to expend all the money so collected upon the roads, and it was charged also that there was an understanding on the part of the motor owners that there would be a reduction of the motor licences if the gas tax were increased.

This was flatly denied by the Government side, the statement being made that no such condition was put forward by the motor owners in asking for the increase in the gasoline tax. The owners of the motors in the province realized that the improving of the roads made for economy in the operation of cars, and favored the paying of the added tax with that end in view.

Mr. A. M. Manson feared that the Government was inviting legal action to combat the legality of the tax in making the increase.

The Government came back with charges that the late Government in its course had attempted to deceive the public when it created a highway account which was not used, and which the Comptroller-General informed the Government was not within the right of a government to use, but that the revenues and expenditures must be made through consolidated revenue.

On the second reading, Mr. Ian Mackenzie contended that the Eight Millions Are Starving in Parts of China

NANKING, March 21.—Eight million Chinese peasants living in the fifty-six districts of Kiangsi Province, South China, are suffering starvation. Banditry, floods and crop failures are responsible. Loss of property through floods and banditry is estimated at $30,000,000 gold. The crop failures are due to lack of rain.

MUNICIPAL VOTES ARE CRITICIZED

Opposition Objects to Fixing Maximum Allowance From Motor Licences and Liquor Profits

COMPARISON WITH OTHER PROVINCES

The policy of the Provincial Government in limiting the grants it will give from the liquor profits and motor licence fees to the municipalities was defended by ministers of the Crown in the Legislature yesterday, following attacks from Opposition members that the administration was "breaking faith with the municipalities."

The question was raised when Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, explained on the second reading of Bill No. 65, An Act to Amend the Municipalities' Aid Act, that the measure limited the Government grants to municipalities from the motor licence fees to $370,000 a year.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Opposition, charged the Government with breaking faith with the municipalities. "According to this new policy, $370,000 will be the total amount they will ever get in a year. Even if there are 50,000 new motor cars, the municipalities will not receive any assistance from the Government above the sum stated. It must be borne in mind that with the increase in traffic the municipalities have increased expenses to meet."

Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, said that the Government

MANCHURIAN CHIEF APPEALS FOR PEACE

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News-People Service) PEIPING, China, March 21.—War clouds are slowly thickening over the area north of the Yangtze River, where the opponents—northern military chieftains and the Nanking Government leaders—are manoeuvring for position and bargaining for the support of certain doubtful armies which occupy a strategic middle ground.

A number of Nanking Government appointees have made a hasty exodus from Peiping, where the northern authorities are closing the local offices of the Nationalist administration and suppressing organs affiliated with Nanking.

Stogans of "down with Chiang Kai-shek" support the anti-Chiang revolution" are appearing on the city walls, but no disturbances have occurred.

GENERALS FORM LINE

Among the forces arrayed against General Chang and his Nationalists, the Shansi Province troops, flying the colors of General Yen Hai-Shan, are forming a line roughly following the southern border of Chihli Province. They are marking time while the so-called Christian general, Peng Yu-Hsiang, now personally directing his troops, moves his allied force of over 100,000 eastward and southward from Western Honan Province.

Constitutional Point Is Raised During Debate on B.C. Natural Resources

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, March 21.—After some discussion, during which a constitutional point was raised, the House of Commons today approved a resolution confirming the agreement between the Federal Government and British Columbia in respect to the transfer of lands in the Railway Belt and the Peace River Block to the province. This agreement was entered into on February 20 last. Following approval of the resolution a bill based on it received first reading.

PARKS JURISDICTION

The question of Federal jurisdiction over Dominion parks, located as they are in the Western provinces, was raised by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader. Mr. Bennett proposed that, under the agreement entered into for the return of the natural resources to the Western provinces, persons residing within the park area would become subject to regulations passed at Ottawa. Such regulations would "deny home rule" to the citizens in these park areas. The creation of an area within a province not subject to provincial laws was wholly wrong, Mr. Bennett said.

The resolution was being piloted through the House by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior. Mr. Stewart expressed the view that all residents within Dominion park areas must be subject to Federal regulations. Provincial legislation did not always take care of matters arising in connection with Dominion parks. All he wished to do was to obtain authority to administer the parks in accordance with Dominion regulations, and preserve their scenic beauty.

IMPORTANT POINT

During the discussion, the question was raised as to whether or not the Dominion and the provinces could enter into any agreement which gave to the Dominion powers allotted to the province under the B.N.A. Act.

Hon. Ernest Papineau, Minister of Justice, promised to take this point under consideration. He informed the House, however, that the agreement had not only to be ratified by the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of British Columbia, but it must also receive the sanction of the Imperial Parliament.

Supply Voted Last Night at Lengthy Session

By sitting until 1 o'clock this morning, the Legislature managed to complete the voting of supply, after which Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, put through the annual Supply Bill, granting certain sums of money for the public service of British Columbia.

The main estimates for the year ending March 31, 1931, are $28,072,715.03, with supplementary estimates for the current year of $483,085.87, and an indemnification vote for the last fiscal year totaling $110,056.17, making a grand total of $28,665,857.07.

Italy Stands Firm on Demands Even If Conference Is Wrecked

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News-People Service) ROME, Italy, March 21.—Even though the London Naval Conference may be wrecked by its action, Italy has no idea of modifying its demands for parity with France, it is once more indicated by a communique issued by the Fascist Grand Council fully approving the work of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi at London.

This action is designed chiefly to give the official lie to reports issued from Paris that Premier Mussolini has been conferring with the British and American Ambassadors here with a view to making slight concessions to the French.

It is considered here that there is absolutely no possibility of a change in Italy's attitude, as was pointed out at the beginning of the conference by Signor Grandi. Failure of the London conference, which has been frankly predicted here since the day Italy accepted the invitation to participate, would tend to place Italy in a most delicate situation because of her inability for financial reasons to build up to the great French programme.

At the same time, such a failure to agree would not harm Italy half as much as a concession of superior forces to France, which would react against her at any future conference. It is considered here that the latter concession would cause irreparable harm to national prestige, it is thought, Italy's financial situation may improve to such an extent that the country will be able to build up to France if there were no binding restrictions.

Censure Vote Rejected by Large Majority

THE motion of the Leader of the Opposition, constituting a want of confidence vote in the Government, and especially condemning the Minister of Finance, was defeated in the Legislature late last night. The vote was a straight party one of the members, twenty to nine.

The resolution referred to the audit and the report based thereupon by Helliwell, MacLachlan & Company, which was tabled a few days ago in the House. The motion condemned the Government for not tabling this report earlier, so that it might have been before the public accounts committee during its sittings. During the debate on the subject there were the usual reiterations with threats as to what would happen later.

LAPSED LICENCES

There is also provision for the taking up of lapsed timber licences by former holders upon application and in favorable consideration by the Government.

INCREASE IN GAS LEVY IS CRITICIZED

motoring public was being deprived of $1,367,000 which was paid in order to provide roads, but which might not be so used.

Mr. Mackenzie said that would under the three-cent tax, provide for a $20,000,000 loan for roads, or $26,000,000 under a five-cent tax. This remark was denied by the Minister of Finance.

Mr. A. M. Manson said it was a dangerous thing to increase the gasoline tax, and was calculated to cause the issue to be taken into the courts. This gasoline tax was framed on the lines of the fuel oil tax. If the latter was contested and defeated, then the gasoline tax would go by the board, and such would be the result.

If the Government made the fuel tax for revenue, then the proper course would have been to keep that tax low, and not court litigation. The gasoline tax increase was sought by motorists on the understanding that the revenue derived from it was to be expended on roads, and also that the licences on motors should be reduced.

Mr. R. D. Twigg said the Automobile Club did not ask for the increase, but endorsed the application. Hon. W. C. Shelly denied that the motorists were insisting on these conditions.

Mr. Manson said the Government had not the remotest idea of spending this $4,000,000 raised on roads. It would go into consolidated revenue.

When Mr. Manson referred to the earmarking of this tax, Mr. Shelly met him with the suggestion that the old Government had never attempted to carry this out.

Mr. Manson said that substantially the whole amount from the gasoline tax went for highway loans, interest and sinking fund. Premier Tolmie asked if the whole of the gas tax came from the provincial motorists.

Mr. Mackenzie said certainly not. Hon. A. M. McKenzie asked if the late Government did not promise with an increase in the gas tax, to make a reduction in the motor licences.

Mr. Manson did not think so, but Mr. McKenzie said the promise was made by Dr. Sutherland.

Mr. Twigg, as a director of the Automobile Club of British Columbia, said he had not seen Mr. Manson present at a directors' meeting in the three years he was in office, although Mr. Manson had said he was a director. He said that there was to be a reduction in the motor licences if the gas tax were raised.

He was sorry that Mr. Manson had sought to shake the faith of the motorists in the ability of the Government to collect this tax, and to try to create the impression that there had been a breaking of faith between the Government and the Automobile Club.

Mr. Twigg read from the statutes to show that there was proposed the creation of the highway account, into which should be paid sums derived from the gasoline tax and the motor licences, and out of which should be paid that money for road construction.

The late Government, he said, never put this into effect, but on the contrary the taxes were paid into consolidated revenue and from there paid for the work on construction of the highways. The Government could not do otherwise as the Comptroller-General would not allow it, as it would affect the loan issue.

Mr. Pattullo early got into a dispute with the Attorney-General in making a statement that the latter had deliberately tried to deceive the House.

Mr. Pooley demanded retraction with regard to this statement, which he said was not becoming from the leader of the Opposition. He stated in his demand, and the leader of the Opposition finally withdrew the statement.

In reply to question of Mr. Pattullo, the Prime Minister said that a delegation had waited upon him with regard to the lowering of the motor licences in the province. He said that in view of the late date in the session he had informed the delegation that he would go into the memorandum presented and give the representations every consideration.

Mr. Pattullo said that this meant that there would be a reduction made in these licences next year.

Mr. Pooley, reading from the correspondence from the Comptroller-General covering a period from 1921 to 1926, said that the creation of the highway account was only a joke.

There had been requests from the Comptroller-General to have the law amended in this respect, because it was an incorrect manner of presenting the situation. The consolidated revenue was the source through which the money must pass.

"DECEIVING HOUSE"
Then Mr. Pooley read from the answers given by Mr. John Hart to questions with regard to payments into and out of this account. Mr. Hart, he said, in these answers had deceived the members of the House.

Mr. Pattullo thereupon demanded a retraction, which Mr. Pooley refused to make; adding that the proof was there that there had been a deliberate deceiving of the members, and the Comptroller-General's letters about that date proved it.

Premier Tolmie gave the information, in reply to a question from Mr. T. Uphill, that while the motor licences in some of the states were lower than in British Columbia, in many of the former there were other taxes connected with the motors which made the taxes total quite as much or more than they were in British Columbia.

The bill passed its second reading.

House May See End of Duties By Wednesday

THE Legislature will not complete its business until some time next week, perhaps by the middle of the week. All hope of completing the work of the session by Saturday having vanished during yesterday, it was decided to take an adjournment after the night session, and business will be resumed on Monday morning, after the week-end recess.

CONFERENCE IS STRANDED UPON SHOALS

and Foreign Minister Briand at Paris. M. Dumesnil's object being to interview the executive committee of his party, which had voted to exclude him from joining the second Tardieu Government. He may be back on Monday.

The departure of M. Dumesnil, following that of Tardieu and Briand, gave rise to reports that the French delegation was abandoning the conference. These were officially denied.

Both at conference headquarters and at the Foreign Office, it is stated that the French have never received of any such intention on the part of the French delegation. And such notification would be necessary in the usual course of things.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN
In real results, the situation is little changed from what it was when Premier MacDonald, Premier Tardieu and M. Briand had their long talk at Chequers a week ago. But as the days pass the rumors multiply. The common remark among experienced conference observers is that the chances of a five-power agreement are virtually gone; that the best to be hoped for is a three-power agreement among Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

But a Three-Power agreement, naval men observe, might offer special difficulties to Britain in view of her dependence on the sea ways for her food supplies, and with the increasing rumors there is a growing uneasiness in British political circles. Right Hon. David Lloyd George is trying to stay the hand of the Liberals, while the conference hangs between life and death. But the reaction to a conference failure might be profound.

FRENCH DENIED
PARIS, March 21.—With the return here tomorrow of Minister of Finance J. L. Dufaure and Minister of Colonies Francois Pietri, France's delegation to the London Naval Conference will be reduced to a single representative over the week-end. Only Ambassador de Miculan remains at the Channel.

Premier Andre Tardieu told a questioner today that he would go to London when something definite seemed to justify his presence at the conference.

In official circles here it is explained, however, that France is in no way abandoning the conference. M. Dumesnil, while the conference is in session, is a growing force in the way of co-operation to make one possible.

Le Temps asserts that Italy's insistence of parity with France, and refusal to state what she deems to be her necessities in figures or tonnage, render the chances of reaching an agreement practically hopeless.

MUNICIPAL VOTES ARE CRITICIZED

municipalities in grants from the motor licences and liquor profits. Mr. Pooley declared: "We are not cutting down, but merely calling a halt."

Mr. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, North Vancouver, scored the policy of the Government, asserting that it was a "gross breach of faith with the municipalities," and that its action would result in a contingent loss to the municipalities of $250,000 this year.

DEFENDS ACTION
Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, warmly defended the Government's course. He remarked that it was the duty, according to the Municipal Act, of every city and district municipality to make suitable provision for its poor and destitute. Yet the Government was taking relief of the Old Age Pensions and the Mothers' Pensions and the municipalities in the province were not called upon to pay one cent towards either.

Dealing with the matter of Old Age Pensions, Mr. McKenzie said that the following were the amounts disbursed by the Government under the Old Age Pensions Act since it came into effect on September 1, 1927, in these three cities: Vancouver (including North Vancouver, Burnaby, South Vancouver and Point Grey), $709,608.72; Victoria, $238,536.70; and New Westminster, $86,552.17, making a total of $1,034,727.59.

Municipalities in British Columbia and Saskatchewan do not pay anything towards the cost of old age pensions. Alberta municipalities pay 50 per cent, those in Ontario contribute 40 per cent, and those in Manitoba pay 100 per cent.

Mr. McKenzie said that the amounts disbursed by the Government under the Mothers' Pensions Act since it came into force in July, 1920, in the same three cities, were: Vancouver, $3,535,028.04; Victoria, $658,234.28; and New Westminster, $213,571.50, making a grand total of $4,406,833.82.

The Governments in British Columbia and Saskatchewan pay 100 per cent of the mothers' pensions allowances, the municipalities thus being relieved of having to assume any of this amount. However, in the Provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario, the Government and the municipalities each pays 50 per cent of the allowances.

NOT IN PROPORTION
Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Education, pointed out that while the Government grants to the municipalities had been increasing year after year, the provincial revenue had not increased to the same extent. Now the municipal revenues were flourishing, but such was not the case with the provincial revenues.

That the finances of the municipalities in British Columbia were not in bad shape was the assertion of Mr. Hinchcliffe, who read extracts from speeches by mayors and reeves at the election, which indicated the sound financial positions of their respective municipalities.

The minister tendered congratulations to Mr. Shelly for the direct way in which he had tackled the problem of limiting Government contributions to municipalities from liquor profits and motor licence fees.

Mr. A. Wells Gray, Liberal, New Westminster, adjourned the debate.

known as "bucketing." The second and third charges are based on section 4 of the Code of Criminal Justice Act. The first is a common law accusation.

Mr. David Dunn, assistant manager of the Vancouver branch of the company, was the first witness called this afternoon. Replying to questions put to him by Mr. Smith, witness said that, as far as he knew, no books of the Vancouver branch had been moved from the office.

Witness also denied that, following the arrest of the two accused, members of the branch office opened an office in the Georgia Hotel, in the Coast city. He said that to the best of his knowledge all transactions were put through the exchange, but admitted he had nothing to do with trading.

HOUSE ACCOUNTS MOVED
Mr. George Kimmerley, chief trader of the company, stated that a house account was operated in Vancouver and in Calgary and that they had been transferred to Toronto. He did not give orders for the removal, but furnished the reason for their removal was so the staffs would not see them.

Witness admitted to Mr. McGillivray that the policy of the company as laid to him by Mr. Soloway, was that all transactions had to be made on the exchange. The house account was used in connection with the buying or selling of shares of clients when the orders could not be put through on the exchange floor. He admitted that such transactions were as good to the clients and sometimes better than the prices they realized on the exchange. There was no advantage to the company, Kimmerley said.

"Did Soloway ever instruct you to make any arrangement with any broker whereby you could 'rig' the market, force it up or down?" Mr. McGillivray asked.

The witness replied that no such instructions had ever been received. David Holden, Toronto, accountant of the firm, explained certain documents entered as exhibits and was questioned regarding the company's financial position.

State System Of Railways Most Costly

(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)
SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 21.—When a deputation of railway union men appeared today before Mr. Patrick S. Cleary, chairman of the New South Wales State Railway Commission, they were surprised to hear from the chairman a drastic offer of self-sacrifice in token of his willingness to "do his bit" towards relieving distress among the railway workers.

Mr. Cleary put the difficult situation of the state system before the deputation without mincing words. He asked them to accept short-time work, which was the only possible alternative to dismissal. He explained the railways had lost a million and a quarter pounds sterling (about $6,500,000) in the last eight months.

To show he was not asking sacrifices from the workers alone, Mr. Cleary announced his intention of distributing half his annual salary of $5,000 (about $25,000) to relieve distress and help reduce the railway deficit. He would give $2,000 ($10,000) to the workers and $300 ($2,500) to the railways.

This fact and the fact that both sides are endeavoring to secure a declaration by Manchuria of its intentions with regard to the impending struggle, tends to postpone hostilities.

It is reported that immediately the campaign against the Nationalists opens, General Yen Hsi-Shan is coming to Peiping to establish a northern military government. A report which has the influx of politicians seems to substantiate.

ATTEMPTS MEDIATION
(Associated Press)
PEIPING, China, March 21.—Threats of civil war in China have reached such a stage that Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria, has stepped in as mediator, sending a peace appeal both to President Chiang Kai-Shek and Yen Hsi-Shan, Governor of Shanhsi.

Mukden dispatches report that Chang Hsueh-Liang replied first, saying that he always desired peace and that he was willing to accept Chang's suggestions. Yen stated that since the various Shanhsi and Kuomintang commanders had issued a circular telegram to the people urging him to fight and lead their northern battles, he himself could not decide the attitude of the Northerners on Chang's proposal.

The Government was so anxious to get money that, like the old Conservative Government, it was selling its capital assets.

He had opposed, in his own time, to open the act to allow reinstatement, but consented only on pressure from both sides of the House. The only cases that were granted were those passed upon by the officials of the department. He prophesied that a request would be made at next session to extend the time beyond September of this year. He strongly opposed the extension.

The debate was adjourned by Hon. R. W. Bruhn.

After services at the Buttermouth Funeral Chapel, Borland's body will be taken to Acadia Memorial Cemetery here for burial.

Eielson's body, borne on an army caisson, will be escorted from the chapel by the lengthy funeral cortege to a train, to be taken to his home at Hatt's, N.D., for burial.

UNIVERSITY LANDS TO BE SOLD QUICKLYNo Intention, Government Says, to Change Policy of Residential Developments*TO DISPOSE OF UNITS ONE AND TWO

The Government desires to maintain the University endowment lands as a fine residential area, and concentrated effort will be made to sell lots in Units 1 and 2, Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, informed the Legislature yesterday, during the debate on Bill No. 47, an Act to borrow the sum of $9,740,000. The question of the University endowment lands was raised by Mr. T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Opposition, who alluded to the fact that the Loan Bill provided for $100,000 for the administration of the University endowment properties. He said he desired an explanation of the policy which the Government intended to pursue with respect to the administration of these lands.

Mr. Burden replied that the Government was not in a position to announce a policy, although the matter was under consideration. He stated that the Government never had any intention of promoting cheap subdivisions in the University endowment lands area.

"We will not embark on any large development scheme in advance, but we will make a determined effort to dispose of the lots in Units 1 and 2 which at present remain unsold," he declared.

TWO COURSES OPEN
The minister said that two methods were being studied by the Government. "One course that we could take would be building up a selling force of our own to dispose of the lands, and the other method would be turning over the lands to a selling agency to sell for us. No decision has yet been arrived at by the Government as to which method we will adopt."

Mr. Pattullo asked if it was the intention of the Government that the University endowment lands be developed along the lines at present laid out. "Is the Government at any time going to destroy it, by changing it from a residential area?"

Mr. Burden replied that the Government desired to maintain the lands as a residential area, and had no intention at the present time of doing otherwise.

Mr. Pattullo remarked that no provision had been made in the bill to loan money in connection with the erection of houses in the area, and he predicted that the Government was going to discontinue that policy.

EXTENSION OF PRIVILEGES IS REJECTEDLegislature Decides Not to Add Employees of Public Utility Corporations to Selected List*TO AWAIT HEALTH INSURANCE REPORT

The resolution proposed by Mr. T. Uphill in favor of adding the employees of public utility corporations to the superannuation privileges of the province was defeated in the Legislature yesterday morning. There was a general disposition from the Government side to favorable action, but it was felt the State Health Insurance Commission, which was still investigating the broader subject, might bring some added information on the question before the final report was received.

Dr. Kingston said that with state health being gone into by a commission that it would be better to leave this open until the report of the commission was in.

DIFFICULTY TO SAVE
Mr. A. M. Manson believed that these men, employed by a public utility corporation, drew modest pay, and it was nearly impossible to save money. He favored bringing pressure upon the public utilities companies to provide for a suitable retiring allowance. He thought there was a good deal of merit in the plan suggested, and was sorry more time could not be given to it.

Mr. George Pearson was of the opinion that the State Health Insurance Commission had nothing to do with this subject.

Mr. W. F. Kennedy thought that in a sense, yet there was attention being given to certain aspects of the situation which might have an effect upon this subject. He therefore considered it might be well to lay this over.

Mr. J. W. Cornett was in favor of the resolution.

Mr. H. D. Twigg expressed the opinion that in the extension of the public utilities, the provision should be made to have the corporations take proper care of superannuation. He held that the large pension plan was a good thing, and the province should take adequate care of the men who in such large measure made for the success of the corporation.

Dr. H. C. Wrench saw in a move of this kind an opportunity to relieve the Government to some extent of the heavy amount required for state health. He thought some action should be taken along this line. The State Health Commission should be asked to undertake this investigation, and the provision should be made to have the corporations take proper care of superannuation. He held that the large pension plan was a good thing, and the province should take adequate care of the men who in such large measure made for the success of the corporation.

Hon. S. L. Howe said this was a very vital question. He considered the province would in the end have to grapple with this whole subject. He would be pleased if the State Health Commission would give attention to it.

Mr. L. A. Hanna contended it was a right of the employees of the companies that they should be able to look to the corporation to be adequately taken care of in old age.

Mr. T. Uphill praised the Minister of Education for providing for superannuation of teachers. Those in other walks of life should be looked after however.

AS MATTER OF RIGHT
The Provincial Secretary he said had been quite liberal in dealing with cases of need in his district, but there was a desire to get away from the charity idea in this connection, and have the assistance come as a matter of right. The 600 employees of the B.C. Electric Railways brought this issue before the Government early in the session. The resolution was defeated.Veteran of Many Wars Is Dead at Age of 93 Years

Later he was commended for service in Canada where his engineering genius was brought into play. He was responsible for the construction of a chain of fortifications to strengthen the defences of Quebec City on the south side of the St. Lawrence River.

REALTORS HEAR TAX PROBLEMSMr. R. F. Blandy Speaks of Municipal Taxation at Meeting of Real Estate Board*BUDGET SPEECH IS COMMENTED UPON

"Although perfect equity in taxation can never be anything more than a nebulous ideal, I am convinced that a great deal might be done to improve present conditions," said Mr. R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk of Oak Bay, in addressing the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board, held in David Spender Ltd.'s private dining-room yesterday.

"We are subject to taxation from three sources," he stated. "These are Dominion, Provincial and Municipal, and with regard to those in the second category, many of our so-called licences and fees may be regarded as quasi-taxes."

Mr. Blandy gave the following figures showing the provincial taxes for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1929:

Income tax, $4,400,000
Land, coal and mineral taxes, 2,740,000
Motor vehicles, 2,210,000
Liquor profits and permits, 1,370,000
Buildings—Succession duties, 1,477,000
Total, $13,910,000

These included $1,224,000 liquor money and $10,686,000 betting tax paid to municipalities and in provincial revenues in the public accounts.

The Dominion, continued Mr. Blandy, seemed to have taken the cream of the taxes; the Province took the leavings of the Dominion; and the municipalities had to be content with the leavings of both.

By far the most important municipal tax, went on the speaker, was that upon real property, which, last year, had totaled $16,500,000.

Mr. Blandy stated that he would be the last to wish to see municipal taxation used as a political football, but he felt that he ought to make some comment on the recent budget speech of Hon. W. C. Shelly. He was, however, simply taking this speech as typical of others, made by liberals and Conservatives alike in previous years.

The budget speech, he said, did not give a true picture of the situation and, in his opinion, the whole taxation problem, municipal and provincial, should be regarded as a unit.

With regard to the columns of figures which Mr. Shelly had placed under the category of "grants to municipalities," Mr. Blandy pointed out that these included such things as mothers' pensions and hospital grants, which never found their way to the municipal treasury. It was only right and proper that a proportion of provincial revenue should be passed on to the municipalities as a matter of fiscal adjustment.

In Mr. Shelly's speech, moreover, nothing had been said about the tremendous increase in school costs, which had grown to the sum of $4,000,000 in the nine years.

Mr. Blandy further pointed out that practically three-quarters of the population of municipalities could derive no benefit from the new Highway "Motor of a fee," he added, "that the owner of real property is bearing an unfair brunt of the taxation."

Mr. Blandy's remarks were heartily endorsed by Mr. David Leeming, Mayor H. Cuthbert Holmes and Mr. J. Bridgman.

ENDORSEMENT IS GIVEN TO ROAD POLICYMr. W. F. Kennedy Speaks on Loan Bill, Contrasting Progress of Pacific States With B.C.*MORE HIGHWAYS ARE ESSENTIAL

Mr. W. F. Kennedy, of North Okanagan, the senior whip of the Conservative party in the Legislature, contributed to the debate on the Loan Bill a strong endorsement of the policy of the Government in providing adequate highways, yesterday afternoon. The important relation which good roads bear to the major industries was dealt with by Mr. Kennedy, who stressed what was to be accomplished in connection with mining and agricultural production, and with the development of the water powers of the province.

"We may," said Mr. Kennedy, "compare our position with that of the states of the Pacific Northwest—Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, with their combined area only slightly larger than that of British Columbia. These states have a density of population 3.5 times that of this province and their population has increased ten-fold during the last forty years. We ask what is the reason for this rapid growth of population? One of the main reasons is adequate transportation. There are in Washington for every square mile of territory, two-thirds of one mile of road, and even in the southern half of British Columbia we find our figure to be less than one-tenth of one mile."

"Roads, at least main trunk roads, must precede settlement as the chief requirement in the development of any country, as they form the main artery of long-distance transportation of heavy freight at moderate rates. However, the cost of constructing railways is very high, and the operation costs are prohibitive for short runs. The highway provides for cheaper and more elastic means of transportation, more easily constructed at less cost and capable of expansion when required."

"With proper transportation there is no reason why the story of the rapid development of our province, Northwest Pacific States should not be equalled in British Columbia, as we still possess our untold wealth of timber, minerals, grazing and agricultural lands; and capital, seeking new outlets, is looking towards this undeveloped land, the last great West. With this in mind, is it difficult to picture British Columbia with a population of five million persons in the next twenty-five or thirty years?"

FOLLOWS FACILITIES
"If you will follow the history of the development of our provinces, you will find this development has followed our railways and highways; industries cannot and will not maintain themselves for any length of time without proper transportation."

"Mining is possibly one of the most promising industries in the world today, as we find during the first twenty-five years of the century, more metals have been used by modern civilization than in the previous history of the world, and this great increase in world metal consumption has caused a very great development in mining and prospecting. I need not, at this time, remind you of the great, though unknown, storehouse of minerals contained within the boundaries of this province, for although we have produced minerals to the value of over one billion dollars, yet the bulk of these have been produced from a few special areas and a great portion of our vast mineralized areas has not as yet produced any minerals at all."

"It might be a few words in connection with the production of foodstuffs within our province. While it is possible with our 35,325 square miles of land available for agriculture, we are producing in this time ten times what it is today, yet we actually imported in 1929 over eight million dollars worth of livestock, and in 1928 nearly four and one-half million dollars in dairy products; the total value of agriculture imports for the year being estimated at twenty-one million dollars."

Mr. Kennedy spoke of the forest and waterpower resources and of the tourist attractions of the province, concluding with a tribute to Mr. Loughheed.

H. G. Wells and Edgar Wallace Writing for The Colonist

The names of H. G. Wells and Edgar Wallace are famous as writers all over the world. Tomorrow the first of a series of four stirring articles by Mr. Wells dealing with Disarmament will appear in The Colonist. Disarmament leaves Mr. Wells cold. "Most of it," he says, "is pure imposture—a haggling of experts—I do not think it leads towards peace."

But Mr. Wells sees a way to stop war. "End the outgrown sovereign independence of States. The only way to real peace is world federation," he declares.

On Sunday week, March 30, Edgar Wallace, highest paid mystery writer in the world, commences in The Colonist the first of a series of his best detective stories, dealing with Mr. Reeder, the quaint fellow who can't help solving murder mysteries.

DAYKIN MOTION IS WITHDRAWN

When the motion of Mr. A. M. Manson relative to the Daykin Commission report came up in the House yesterday, with regret that certain evidence was not included in the report, the mover said he had found he was mistaken in his statement that Mr. Boyd had given evidence on oath. He had ascertained this was a mistake.

Mr. Manson said he did not believe the Minister of Lands had wanted to act unfairly or was to blame. He felt Mr. Daykin should have done this. He therefore withdrew the resolution.

IONA ISLAND LAND SALE IS DEPRECATED

Opposition Considers Sale at $5 Per Acre Insufficient for Property Value

MOTION REJECTED IN LEGISLATION

A resolution sponsored by Mr. T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Opposition, that "This House regrets the improvident sale by the Government of the accretion of 88.20 acres to Iona Island, situated in the North Arm of the Fraser River, at the price of $5 per acre," was rejected in the Legislature yesterday on a 27-14 vote. The twelve Liberal members in the House and Mr. W. Cornett, Conservative, South Vancouver, and Mr. Thomas Uphill, Labor Fernie, supported the resolution.

Mr. Pattullo said that Iona Island was situated close to Marine Drive and near the university area, which was being developed. He considered that it was a most improvident bargain for the Government to make by selling the 88.20 acres at $5 per acre, for he felt that the Department of Lands would have been well advised not to have disposed of the property so hurriedly. It should have obtained a much higher figure for it.

"It must be an area capable of wonderful development, and the Minister of Lands couldn't have known what he was doing when he sold it for $5 per acre. It is regrettable that he didn't give the matter further consideration," Mr. Pattullo contended.

Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, said there was no great difference between the sale of this island and other similar properties. The Government had disposed of the property at the usual price for that class of land. The late Government had made such sales on the same basis.

Mr. Manson: "The minister states that we did the same thing with respect to such lands. Let me say that it is immaterial what we did. The present Government must bear the onus of its action with respect to the sale it has made. The land should have been taken into university endowment lands, and not alienated. But if it is alienated it should have been sold for $50 or $75 or $100 per acre, not $5 per acre."

Mr. Pattullo: "The Government has alienated a good piece of property at a very inadequate figure."

Mr. Manson said the harbor commissioners for the North Fraser had protested the sale of valuable property so close to Vancouver at this small price. He said the land was subsequently offered to the city for $150,000 by Mr. A. B. Trites, who had purchased the property from the Government.

Mr. Burden pointed out that at any rate the city did not buy the land.

SUGGESTIONS ARE INVITED BY CITY

Tenders for Signals at Approach to Drawbridge to Be Received Up to March 31

The sum of $600 was voted this year for the improvement of the signals whereby street traffic approaching the Johnson Street bridge is warned that the bridge is about to be opened for the passage of vessels. The complaint has been made that under certain weather conditions the present signals are not always noticeable or obvious enough at a sufficient distance.

Tenders are now being invited for the improved apparatus. Tenders are not limited to any type or type of signal. Everyone will be free to suggest any sort of signal or combination of signals that he wishes to submit.

Intending bidders are invited to call at the office of the city engineer, Mr. F. M. Preston, in the City Hall, and to discuss any proposals they may wish to submit, or to obtain any further particulars they may desire. They can "talk it over" with him and later submit their bids.

Tenders must be in by March 31.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

"A Kiss for Cinderella"
More Than Usually Well Acted by Clever Cast of Students

WILL BE PERFORMED ONCE MORE TONIGHT

HORACE DAWSON
Who plays the part of Mr. Bode in "A Kiss for Cinderella" the matinee play at the Victoria High School.

In choosing Sir J. M. Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella" for this year's matriculation play, the Victoria High School embarked upon a venture the magnitude of which might well have daunted the most optimistic band of players, since it is now recognized that Barrie wrote the play in the first instance, especially for Sir Gerald Du Maurier and Hilda Trevelyan. The only justification for the selection of this play, therefore, would be unequalled success. This success the Victoria High School has achieved.

Miss Ella Cameron, who directed the production, cannot be too heartily congratulated upon the excellence of last night's performance. The play is not an easy one for either the professional or the amateur, it being fatally easy to substitute buffoonery for whimsy in such "Barrieque" conceptions as the little slavey's conception of a court ball. That the players avoided this fault last night speaks volumes for the intelligence with which they tackled the play, and the result was that they contrived to make the audience laugh with them, instead of at them.

As Cinderella, Muriel Davenport gave a really extraordinary performance—something altogether outstanding, which all other attractions apart, would have constituted a good and sufficient reason for turning out in last night's rain.

She had evidently steeped herself in the character of the half-starved little Cockney sparrow, and played with a sincerity and charm which stamped her as nothing less than a born actress.

Robert Carey, as the policeman hero, was excellent. He was particularly convincing in his moments of rather ungainly shyness in the last act. As Danny, James Petch gave a performance which was a little gem in itself.

The cast was a long one and it would be impossible to mention all by name. As a composite unit, however, they were in complete sympathy with the mood of the author, and carried conviction by a really excellent performance.

Those taking part were: Horace Dawson, Robert Carey, Muriel Davenport, G. Metro, J. McTavish, Lily Primrose, V. Rowson, Joan Pears, Eugene Cantwell, Winnifred White, Olive Jordan, Margaret Jones, Beverly Vale, Frances Gibbs, May Darby, W. Leahy, W. Outhwaite, E. Fox, John Merritt, William Ford, Walter Kitley, John Pennington, Kathleen Melidram, Jack Noble, Melvin Glaspell, Dorothy Broughton, Marguerite Jeeves, Phyllis Ellis, Roberta Bonastow, Thelma McPadden, Kathleen Armstrong, Dorothy Macdonald, Dorothy Baker, Isabel Gibson, Kathleen Baker, James Petch and Alice Taylor.

"A Kiss for Cinderella" will be repeated tonight.

Webster—"I'm afraid we're on the road to the poorhouse."
Mrs. Webster—"Well, if we are, then let of other people around here are, too."
Webster—"Maybe, but we're passing them on the road!"

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to the Dominion Government.

Higher Salaries Not Likely for Railway Board

OTTAWA, March 21.—The Ottawa Journal in its news columns today says:

"Members of the Board of Railway Commissioners, who were recommended for large increases under the Beatty report, and salaries paid to technical and professional men in the public service, are not likely to be given the increases unless the salaries of Supreme Court and High Court judges are increased."

"It is understood the Government does not regard favorably the recommendation to give large increases to members of the Railway Commission. In the meantime, it is understood that railway commissioners are endeavoring to have their terms of office extended. At present their terms are ten years."

Local rainfall between 5 o'clock Friday morning and the same hour in the evening, registered, according to Mr. Napier Denison, of Gonzales Observatory, 1.03, or practically one inch. Portland, Ore., reported an equal fall. Mr. Denison predicted uncertain weather conditions as long as the ocean storm now centred on the Pacific Coast lasts. The temperature is generally mild all along the Coast, and the zero weather of a few days ago is passing from the Prairies. The heavy rainfall is most welcome throughout the Pacific States, the precipitation being far below the average to date, and is general from California north. Victoria had an hour and forty-two minutes of bright sunshine yesterday, and would probably have some today, Mr. Denison added.

An extensive storm area was centred off the Queen Charlotte Islands yesterday, a general south-west gale blowing from the mouth of the Columbia River to Prince Rupert. Puget Sound experienced a thirty-eight-mile blow during the day, and storm signals were up last night in Victoria, Esquimalt, Nanaimo and Vancouver for a moderate south-west blow, probably entering in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Gulf of Georgia.

Address Will Be Presented to Ottawa Authorities Asking Attention to Soldier Holdings

REVISION OF PRICES URGED

The Dominion Government will be asked to give relief to the soldiers settled upon lands under the Soldier Settlement Board. This action was taken by resolution introduced by Mr. J. W. Berry in the Legislature yesterday. The resolution read as follows:

Whereas this Legislature believes that the soldier settlers in British Columbia are a valuable asset to the province, and that it is most desirable that the said settlers should be able to retain and remain upon the lands they have taken up;

Therefore be it resolved, that the Government of the Dominion of Canada be petitioned to reduce the payments required from the soldier settlers in British Columbia on account of the lands they have taken up under the Soldier Settlement Board to an amount commensurate with the productive capacity of their respective holdings; and generally to extend to the said settlers the greatest possible measure of relief in regard to the payments due or accruing due to the said Government in respect of the lands held by such settlers.

And be it further resolved, that an humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that a copy of the resolution herebefore set out be transmitted to the Honorable the Secretary of State for Canada, or other proper official at Ottawa, for presentation to His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada.

Mr. A. M. Manson agreed there should be a revision of prices. These had been sold at a ridiculous rate. The Dominion Government had had the matter in hand. It had been stated that it would cost millions to carry this out.

He did not want to take action in the Legislature with regard to calling the attention of the Dominion to matters. He argued that the returned soldiers could not make a living off the land at the prices charged.

Mr. Ian Mackenzie agreed with Col. Peck. He did not think the Government at Ottawa would regard this as an embarrassing matter.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo thought the Dominion members should give advice to the Dominion Government.

Hon. R. H. Pooley called attention to the action of the province in recommending amendments by the Dominion with respect to liquor matters. Other provinces joined in this and the Dominion finally agreed.

Mr. J. W. Berry, in closing the debate, recalled the experience he had had in the handling of more of these men in this way than any other man in Canada.

He did not want this to be simply a gesture. It was an attempt to help out the soldiers in the position in which they found themselves.

DIOCESAN BODY HAS SESSION

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF COLUMBIA DIOCESE HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

Motion Endorsed With Regard to Employment of Married Women

The work of the various forms of social service organizations under the Anglican boards throughout Canada was comprehensively dealt with at the monthly board meeting of Columbia W.A. on Friday, by Miss Lillian Brown, who has recently returned to work in the Social Service League in Victoria, after three years' strenuous work in Toronto.

That there should be unity between all the forms of social service so that the work may be more evenly developed all over Canada, were points tellingly brought out by the speaker, who closed with an earnest appeal to every church member to stand pledged to serve man-

Today's Recipe

FRUIT PUDDING—The "Frozen Strawberries" which are now on the market and which are proving so popular may be made into this attractive pudding: Make a batter of one cup of sour milk, one tablespoon of melted butter, a little salt, one teaspoon of soda, four tablespoons of flour. Half fill a baking dish with the strawberries and pour the batter over. Bake for about twenty minutes or a little longer in the oven.

kind, as well as extending a welcome and practical assistance to the newcomers to this great country. In expressing the thanks of the meeting to Miss Brown for her helpful and informing address, Mrs. Dickson, president, urged the parochial branches to take up their share of the work, and to appoint secretaries to make inquiries and assist cases of need in each parish.

The meeting opened at 11:45 with a standing vote of sympathy with three W.A. members recently bereaved of their husbands, Mrs. Ernest H. Bird, Mrs. Girdwood and Mrs. Pennell, and the sympathy of the board has been conveyed to them. Special prayer was used by Mrs. Laycock, at the afternoon session, for Mrs. Roper, of Ottawa, who is seriously ill.

The corporate communion service at 10:30 a.m. in St. Mary's was very well attended, in spite of the heavy rain, the celebrant was the Rev. Canon del. Nunns, assisted by Rev. E. Cropper.

WARMLY WELCOMED

At the opening of the business session in St. Mary's Hall, the parochial president, Lady Lake, welcomed the board, and expressed pleasure at seeing so many present, and regret at the absence of sunshine. But the hospitality extended to the board was unstinted. Lady Lake being assisted in arrangements by a capable committee of W.A. members, who provided tea at the close.

Officers' reports were full of interest, the junior secretary, Mrs. Hunter, received a warm welcome. In the deeply regretted absence of the literature secretary, Mrs. Ernest H. Bird, the work is being carried on by Mrs. Philip, who was assisted by Miss Hensley.

Mrs. Cropper, president of the Mothers' Union, spoke to the meeting, emphasizing the value of the study book, "The Old Church in the New Dominion," which contains a fund of valuable information. The treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Hartley, informed the branches that her new address is 139 Passmore Street, and her telephone number is 8862L.

MOTION ENDORSED

The resolution from the Local Council of Women, sponsored by Strawberry Vale Institute, and sent to the affiliated societies, was endorsed by the board by a majority vote, regarding the employment of married women.

The invitation from St. Saviour's Parochial Branch, to hold the April board meeting in St. Saviour's Parish Hall, Victoria West, was accepted by the board. Owing to good Friday falling on the third Friday in the month, it was decided that the board meeting will be held on April 11 and will be an evening meeting for the convenience of the business women and girls' branches. All were pleased to hear that Miss Phepoe, president of New Westminster Diocesan Board, has promised to address the board at the May meeting, which is to be held at Quamichan, and she will also address a meeting of girls' branches the previous evening.

Boy Scouts Sponsor Successful Concert

The building fund of the new hall erected for the use of the St. Paul's Boy Scout troop, was considerably augmented on Thursday night, when an enthusiastic audience thronged the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, the occasion being a concert under the auspices of the troop and pack committee.

Mr. H. W. Creelman, principal of Lampson Street School, presided. Included in the program were selections by an instrumental trio, including Miss Heale, piano; Miss M. Phillips and Miss B. Sledge, violins. Songs were charmingly sung by Mrs. E. Grimmond, soprano, and Miss D. Hartree, contralto, and the Imperial Quartette, composed of Mr. Frank Spooner, first tenor; Mr. Stanley Honeychurch, second tenor; Mr. J. W. Buckler, first bass; Mr. F. E. Rowley, second bass. There were bass solos by Mr. Malmgren, Mr. H. H. Adams, and recitations by Messrs. G. Hallett and A. L. Robinson, and an exceptionally clever demonstration of magic by Mr. W. Harkness.

Concert at Hospital

A particularly well-arranged concert was held on Tuesday evening in the T.B. ward of the Jubilee Hospital by the Kitchen Cabinet Band of St. Saviour's Church, under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Institute. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the artists, who will present a full program at the concert to be given on March 28 at 8 o'clock. As this probably will be the last concert of the season, a cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

The final class in parliamentary procedure was held in the Institute rooms on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance. The V.W.I. members served tea and a social half-hour was spent, during which Mrs. F. Taylor, the president, presented Mrs. J. D. Gordon, on behalf of the members, with a pretty basket of flowering plants and ferns as a small token of appreciation of her services so willingly given in conducting the classes. A hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Gordon, and also the members of the Victoria Women's Institute by non-members, who were also guests for tea.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

YOUR CHILD'S EYES

A great deal of good has been accomplished in the past few years through the dissemination of information about the care which should be given in protecting the eyes of the young child. Infections from carelessness as to cleanliness were formerly responsible for many thousands of cases of blindness each year with children who became blind even before one year of age.

In most states the laws require the physician to sterilize the baby's eyes as soon as the child is born. These laws usually compel the druggist to use a chain of iodine or a mild antiseptic to cleanse the eyelids will kill almost any kind of infection if it is applied immediately after birth.

The baby does not usually recognize objects until at about six months, and mothers are frequently alarmed because the eyes do not move in harmony with the body. Very young. Complete co-ordination of eye movements usually does not occur until the baby is about three months old.

Mothers must be warned to keep their babies' eyes protected from strong lights during the first few months of life and at least until the baby is old enough to sit up and strong enough to protect himself by turning away from strong lights. In good health the baby's eyes are not so apt to give much trouble, but if the feeding is improper, surroundings unhealthful, and sanitary habits not practiced, there may develop a chain of childhood disorders which not only affect the future health of the child, but also have a distinct effect upon producing action in vision or eye diseases.

The diseases which more commonly affect children during early life are those which affect the conjunctiva, the membrane which lines the eyelids and extends over the outside of the eyeball. When these membranes become inflamed it is usually because the baby has been fed on a diet composed principally of dehydrated foods. A plain milk diet, supplemented by orange juice feedings, will prevent conjunctivitis and in fact almost any of the diseases of the eyelids which are supposed to come from infections. Granular lids, although undoubtedly of an infectious origin, will not develop if the child is properly fed and the eyes kept clean by being washed with plain water two or three times daily.

It is wise for everyone to use care in spreading infection through the use of common towels, and every member of the household should have both a fresh face and bath towel changed on a daily basis. Children who suffer from eye-strain do so because of definite eye defects or because of a systematic acidosis which irritates the eyes the same as it affects other sensitive parts of the body. A child who suffers from eye-strain may develop headaches, nervousness, irritability, drowsiness, digestive disturbances, dizziness, ear-aches and be backward at school. If the eye defect continues, or the causative acidosis is not corrected, the eyes may lose their power for vision, may become tired each day, or there may be dread of light, watering, sties, crossed eyes and often frequent blinking.

The remedy lies first in correcting any existing acidosis and then by the use of certain eye exercises. Several excellent books with illustrations have been written explaining these exercises. I have prepared a special article on exercising the eyes, and I will send it to you upon request.

As soon as the child is able to read, he should be examined by an optometrist who will correct the proper care of the child's eyes so that defects may be corrected and the eyes strengthened to normal.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. Frank McCoy should address letters: Dr. Frank McCoy, c/o McCoy Publications, Inc., 689 South Ardmore Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

A NEW ESTABLISHMENT

Last week saw the opening day of a new establishment of interest to Victoria women. The French Shop, 728 1-2 Fort Street, will offer a direct appeal to those in search of imported novelties. In addition to the main feature of dressmaking, The proprietresses, Miss Doris Bray and Miss Lina Frisch, are well known in Victoria and have had much experience in this line of work. Wedding trousseaus will be a specialty here and a complete line of lingerie is expected shortly. The new store, next to Norman G. Cull, Ltd., optometrist, is charmingly fitted up and decorated, this being its first occupation since recent alterations.

Delightful Dance Held by Telegraphers

The telegraphers' ball, held last evening at the Empress Hotel, was a most delightful good and a number of out-of-town visitors were present to take part in the reunion of telegraphers of the North-five-piece orchestra played a programme of the latest dance numbers, and responded to repeated encores. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room, the table very charmingly arranged with daffodils and forsythia.

A collegiate tap dance by little Miss Georgina Dowdall, pupil of Miss V. Powles, was an added attraction, and a Polish mazurek was given by Miss Phyllis Roberts and Miss Dorothea Curtis, pupils of Mrs. Gaskill. The following pupils of Mrs. Gaskill took part in an Irish jig: George Roberts, Pansy Dunnett, Barry Taylor and Thelma Stratford.

The success of the dance was due to the energetic committee, comprising Messrs. J. Hickey, I. E. Barr, J. Hunter, J. A. Roberts, C. F. Moriarty, F. H. Blashfield and F. C. Mann.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Institute Room on Wednesday afternoon, with a good attendance of members. Correspondence read by the secretary included a letter from the Vancouver Exhibition Association asking for an exhibit in the women's section at the summer Fair. Concert and Dance Proves Successful Feature

St. Martin's Hall, Obed Avenue, was filled by a large crowd on Thursday evening who had come to attend the concert and dance given by Ward Seven, Saanich Conservative Association.

Preliminary to the concert, a business meeting was held, and the objects of the association explained by President Appleby and Secretary Murphy, who offered the success of the association in the district is largely due.

President Wallace of the central association, congratulated Ward Seven on the lively interest taken in the Conservative cause as shown by the large number at the meeting, and urged all newcomers to get on the voting lists in view of the approaching Federal election.

The concert programme followed, when songs were rendered by Mrs. Love, Miss Polly Bates, Mrs. F. Osborn and Mr. Campion, comic song and recitation. Mrs. Steele greatly pleased the audience by her dancing of an Irish jig and the sailor's hornpipe. Simple Matter to Stop Tooth Decay If Taken in Time

Dr. Varon Smith, addressing Rotary Club members at their weekly luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel, told them that tooth decay was preventable, and could be kept out of the mouth if taken early enough and the patient given the proper attention. The average man had the choice of keeping his teeth in good condition at the cost of a small outlay or spending about the same amount in a lump sum for remedial work when too late to save.

Founding of Kinsmen Organization Observed At Anniversary Dinner

Marking the tenth anniversary of the formation of the first Kinsmen Club, local members held their meeting and dinner on Thursday evening in the Empress Hotel, with President Stanley Miles in the chair. The toast to "The King" was honored, and, after the singing of "O Canada," the chairman read greetings from the district governor, Mr. J. Hutchison, of Vancouver, who prophesied great things for the future of the organization.

Through the medium of the photograph, the voice of the national president, Mr. S. H. Banick, of Toronto, was heard in a message of fervor, service and patriotism. Vice-President Ernest L. Stock read a message from the club founder, Mr. Harold Rogers, who spoke of the great organization which had grown out of the original meeting in Hamilton.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. V. L. Denton, of the Normal School. Speaking on "I Am a Citizen of No Mean Country," Mr. Denton outlined the growth of the Dominion of Canada, particularly during the past twenty-five years.

"This Nerve Food Keeps me feeling fine"

THE high tension of modern life is an enormous strain on the nervous system. The nerves have been unable to adjust themselves to the changed conditions of life and the result is great discomfort from headaches, irritability, indigestion and sleeplessness. When the nerves become exhausted there are feelings of great fatigue and failure of the vital organs to properly perform their tasks. The most effective treatment with which to restore the exhausted nervous system is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This fact has been proven in so many thousands of cases that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is now generally recognized as the standard prescription for troubles of this nature.

SYNOPSIS

Count Anthony of Egmont leaves the court of the Duke of Burgundy, after finding that his fiancée, Lady Catharine does not love him.

The disappearance of Anthony of Egmont from the Court of Burgundy was something more than a nine-days' wonder. It was a source of regret to many, of humiliation to the Duke of Burgundy, and of fury to the Duke, who accounted himself affronted in his dignity as well as disappointed in his designs. He at once sent messengers to the various provinces composing his State with orders for the arrest of the Count wherever found. M. de Blaumont, who was despatched to old Duke Arnold's court at Nimwegen, whither he thought it most likely that Count Anthony would have gone, for the purpose of inducing him to return if he were there, or of informing his father of the event if he were not.

But neither M. de Blaumont nor any of the score or so of messengers sent out by the Duke could come upon the fugitive, and at Nimwegen there was no news of him beyond what was contained in a letter to his father borne by the page Valbert, on his return to Quelders. This letter announced merely that Count Anthony had left Brussels on a personal quest and from which he could not say when he would return.

Some eight months later, Ghent, that prosperous city of weavers, was the scene of his reappearance.

There he went to the assistance of a young merchant named Danvelt, from the town of Middleburg, in Walcheren, who had gotten into a street brawl and was in danger of losing his life. Danvelt and Count Anthony, the latter being a knight, together and journeyed side by side during the day. As night drew near, they found themselves at Flushing, and when Count Anthony inquired as to the town's best inn, Danvelt said:

"No inn for us tonight, sir. We'll live with my father's good friend, Myner Claessens, who'll make you very welcome for my sake, and whose house you'll find a deal more comfortable than any inn."

Count Anthony yielded without any further persuasion. The prospect of being received on terms of equality in a burgher household was not without allurements. Together they rode the short distance to Myner Claessens's house, where new experiences awaited them.

Count Anthony's first glimpse of her burst into his brain a picture which was to abide there all his days. She stood in the doorway of her father's house to welcome these guests, appraised of their coming by the noise in the street beyond.

"You are soon returned," she said, as Danvelt greeted her. "But what has happened to you?"

The young burgher laughed off the inquiry as to how he came to be so late, and with a look of contentment and blackened eye, mightily at ease with her, proprietarily almost.

"Only the noise of the city, by my faith, and might never have returned but for Master Egmont here."

Thus he presented his companion with a certain hearty patronage which, in another time, must have made Count Anthony wince. At present, however, seeing nothing but this gentle lady, contented to be present but her own, he bowed very low over the slim white hand she extended to him.

Master Danvelt completed the presentation. "This is Johanna, daughter of Myner Claessens himself."

"To greet our Philip returning from the wars,"—said the joyful voice of the burgher who rolled forward to his daughter's side.

Myner Claessens kept a good house and a good table; he had a nice taste in wine, of which there was great trade in Walcheren; and he was well attended by devoted servants. Under no better auspices could Count Anthony have sought initiation to the domestic side of burgher life in Zealand.

The next morning, having risen betimes, he had gone forth into the garden. There he had found Mistress Johanna, all in grey this morning, from which demure color she appeared to gather an increased demure.

"You are astir early, Mistress," was his comment when she made the courteous inquiry touching his rest.

"It is our custom. We are industrious folk. As industrious as we are peaceful."

"I should be pained, madam, to restrain you, to induce you to have a hand towards the tulips upon which he had found it exercised—as to trouble your peace."

"You would not be suffered to do either."

"Oh, I believe you. You would know how to defend your own."

And then came Myner Claessens to join them, and bid them in to table, where Danvelt waited with the impatience of the healthy tradesman.

Count Anthony, during breakfast, drew the conclusion that a match was already settled between Johanna and Danvelt. He was conscious of a little chill at his heart, and suddenly was marvelling at himself. He was a Prince of the House of Guelders, after all, and heir to its throne. If it chilled him to discover a burgher's daughter fittingly betrothed to one of her own class, the sooner he departed the better for himself and others.

And so he spoke of England, and desired to know when Myner Claessens could afford him a passage.

But the weather turned stormy and for a week the sales persisted in the narrow seas and kept Count Anthony in the Claessens home. More than once he spoke of seeking quarters at the inn. But Myner Claessens stoutly opposed him.

Then, one day, news of the death of his father reached Philip Danvelt in Flushing and sent him in haste to Middleburg.

The event pointed to consequences which Myner mentioned on the morrow to his daughter. He spoke gently, a note of regret in his tone.

"Now that Philip is master of his fortune, I shall be losing you soon, Johanna."

"I don't think I want to leave you, father."

There fell a long silence, and he saw that her eyes were full of trouble. "May I speak frankly, father?"

"I should not know you if you spoke otherwise."

"I am not sure that my happiness lies with Philip."

"Not sure?" Claessens was startled. "But you are promised to him."

"I was no party to the promise, father."

"Nor was Philip. But he's fond of you. Old Danvelt and I knew what was good for both of you. Your fortunes united will make you very rich."

"Is wealth the only consideration?"

"The chief consideration, as you'll come to discover. And, for the rest, Philip's a good fellow, good-natured, kindly. He'll make a good husband, never doubt it."

"Not if I do not love him, father."

"Love? Love comes with habit, child. Take my word for it. I must judge for myself in this; judge as my heart bids me."

"But what else, Philip?"

"Heaven forbid that I should have a fault to find with him."

"Why, then, all's well. A solid lad. Not perhaps the best looking, but ails of such men as Master Egmont."

but of a worth that seldom goes with such outward virtues.

"Master Egmont's virtues are not outward only," she said, and flushed at her tongue's too-ready betrayal of her mind.

He frowned. "This stranger isn't the cause of your looking oddly upon Philip? It isn't that?"

"She made haste to interrupt him. 'No, no. It is only that I like and respect Master Egmont. Therefore I will assume nothing unflattering to him. That is all.'"

Just then on the subject of Philip, but that evening after supper, sitting alone with his guest, he returned to the subject of his daughter's coming, informing the Count that from childhood she had been promised to Danvelt.

Count Anthony perceived quite clearly the merchant's object in this confidence.

Claessens knew of his guest no more than was to be read in his actions and externals. From these he judged him to be a man of courts, of noble blood, of a different class from himself, and he had a strong and well-justified prejudice against unions where such disparity existed. So he prayed for the fine weather that should permit his guest's departure.

These prayers were answered on the morrow. The leaden pall of the heavens broke, the sun shone clear and warm, and the wind died down.

Claessens was able to inform his guest that a sloop which had been waiting to leave port would sail on the next day. Count Anthony thanked Heaven, and was downcast.

Thereafter he wandered in the garden with Johanna, a sad garden, damp and battered by the storm.

Next day he sailed for England, and her world was empty; empty because of the going of a man of whose existence ten days ago she had not been conscious. For comfort she clung to the hope that he would come again, a hope begotten of his last words.

"I leave my horses, by your father's favor. My Schimmel is a paltry palfrey that would bear a little in safety. Use him freely, until I come again, and if I do not come again, retain him for your own as an earnest of the gratitude I bear you."

"Gratitude?" she echoed, who desired almost anything but that of him. "For what are you grateful?"

"To you, for more than I could tell," he said. "To God, for having known you, Johanna."

While she stood stricken dumb by that, his lips touched her hand for the first and last time, in all reverence, and he was gone.

ROYAL

The Gordon McLeod Theatre Players have a success of the laughable comedy, "Tell Me the Truth," that it will again be offered next week. It is a long time since a play has been able to run for two weeks in Victoria, but the audiences have been so appreciative of this gay little comedy that the players felt it would be a pity not to give many who perhaps are unable to come this week the opportunity of doing so next. On Wednesday next, both for the matinee and evening performances, it is hoped there will be general attendances of the public, as on that day the Army & Navy War Veterans are coming from all units, and with the co-operation of the company will give a portion of the proceeds to the special fund for the Poppy Fund.

DR. SIPPRELL AND CHOIR AT FIRST

Da Vinci's Masterpiece of "The Last Supper" to Be Pictured Tomorrow Evening

Something quite unusual has been arranged between the two central congregations of the United Church in this city. For Sunday morning, Dr. Sipprell and his choir will be in charge of the service of the First United, while Dr. Wilson and his choir will conduct the service in the Metropolitan Church. The fraternal spirit which exists between these two older congregations is very fine, and will doubtless be further strengthened by such interchanges as this.

In the evening Dr. Wilson will continue his series on "Great Paintings Which Portray the Life and Passion of Our Lord." The picture to be shown on the screen on Sunday evening will be "The Last Supper," by Leonardo da Vinci, considered one of the greatest religious paintings in the world. In order that the lessons suggested by the picture may be made more lasting, a copy of the picture is given to the worshippers.

The pastor of the Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Yates Street, will preach at both services on Sunday. In the morning service at 11 o'clock he will preach on "The Passion That Filled the Heart of Jerusalem," and at the evening service at 7:30, "The Price That Was Paid for Our Redemption." Special singing at the evening service. Class meeting at 10 o'clock and Sunday school at 2:30.

PARENTS PLEASED WITH SOLARIUM

Touching appreciation of the benefits which their little daughter had derived from her several months' treatment in the Queen Alexandra Solarium is expressed in the following letter, which was read at the regular monthly meeting of the Solarium board of directors yesterday morning, the president, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, being in the chair: "Dear Sirs—My wife joins me in thanking you, gentlemen, for what you have done to make our little daughter well. It was a great relief to see her come home without crutches. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts." Dr. Wace recalled the little patient to which this referred, noting that she had arrived at the Solarium with a tubercular hip and very crippled. She had undergone treatment for the disease in Glasgow and elsewhere without success, but after several months at the Solarium had recently been returned to her home on the mainland, apparently cured. The Board expressed its gratification and appreciation of the parents' joy in the results.

At yesterday's meeting the two new directors, Capt. W. H. Molson and Mr. Robert Baird, were welcomed. An invitation has been sent to their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willington to visit the Solarium, if possible, during their stay on the island.

TRAIL PASSES OUT OF ALLAN CUP HOCKEY

B.C. Intermediate Rugby Champions to Be Named Here Today

Victoria College, Present Titleholders, Will Battle Ex-Magee, Vancouver, in Sudden-Death Game at Willows at 3:15 o'clock

Can the flashy Ex-Magee intermediate Rugby fifteen, Mainland champions, put a halt to the winning streak of the Victoria College squad, local and provincial champions? That is the question being asked today, the date of the British Columbia championship match at the Willows Oval. The kick-off is set for 3:15 o'clock.

Ex-Magee gained the right to show here against the flashy but and gold representatives by humbling Merilomas 11-5 at Brockton Point last Saturday. Ex-Magee, well trained and with plenty of teamwork, the visitors will undoubtedly make the locals move lively the whole distance.

College are in the pink of condition for their second championship struggle against Mainland opposition, and the first to be played in this city. Under the guiding hand of Dave Ellis, skipper, and a former member of the Victoria "rep" squad, the College will go into the fray slight favorites to retain the championship they annexed at Brockton Point last season.

The teams will line up as follows: Victoria College—Kennedy, Copeland, Moorhead, Young, Ellis, Patterson, White, Robinson, Senker, Waites, Sprinkling, Knight, Grant, Ruitan and Walton.

Ex-Magee—Flaher, Hall, Clay, Tanton, Johnstone, L. Chodot, Saunders, Jerry Hower, McMorde, Neff, Ferguson, Jack Hower, Lightheart, Marley and H. Chodot.

HAWES WINS GREAT GAME FROM COLVIN

Fraction of Inch Separates Defeat From Victory in Singles Match at Carpet Meet

SCOTLAND TO MEET ENGLAND MONDAY

A fraction of an inch separated defeat and victory in the feature match of the championship singles between Hawes and Colvin last night in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling tournament now in progress at the Crystal Garden. Hawes, who has been playing exceptionally brilliant of late, managed to come out on top by a 21-20 score after twenty-seven ends.

The Hawes-Colvin match was, without doubt, the best so far carried out during the tournament, with the winner in doubt until the last shot was bowled. Battling neck and neck during every end, Hawes owes his victory to the perfect shot which he executed during the last moments of the game, which meant defeat to Colvin by a fraction of an inch.

Stewart and Mitchell advanced to the next round of the singles by eliminating J. McMillan and Currie by 21-15 and 21-17 scores, respectively. All four exponents played well, with the winners holding a slight edge from the beginning.

In the open doubles, two fine exhibitions were witnessed. Baker and Pugh scored a well-deserved win over Richardson and McMartin by a 22-14 count, while Pearson and Turner accounted for Cooper and McCallum, 20-13. The remainder of the matches in the open doubles and championship singles ended in one-sided scores.

The tourney continues this evening. On Monday night more interest will be created when England meets Scotland in the next round of the international series. Owing to the number of competitors appearing in this match, only one novice singles game is on the schedule for Monday.

The international affair will commence at 7:30 o'clock and the teams will be as follows:

England—Scroggs, Taylor, Saunders, Kirchin (skip), Bridge, Carley, Thackray and Oliver (skip).

Scotland—Reid, Gibson, Drummond, A. McMillan (skip), Leiper, J. McMillan, Kell and Currie (skip).

Last night's results and Monday's draw are as follows:

THE RESULTS
Open Doubles
Baker and Pugh 23, Richardson and McMartin 14.
Cooper and McCallum 13, Pearson and Turner 23.
McMillan and Nelson 23, McNeil and Hughes 8.
Lax and Harrison 12, Woods and Currie 22.

Championship Singles
Holloway 10, Leiper 21.
Currie 17, Mitchell 21.
Hawes 21, Colvin 20.

MONDAY'S DRAW
7:30 p.m.—International match, England vs. Scotland.
7:30 p.m.—Novice singles, Bennett vs. McMartin, Table No. 3.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Shebbat Zebi Married the Bible—Shebbat Zebi was the most famous of the Pseudo-Messiahs. A mystic and a charlatan, he deluded his Jewish brethren by claiming to have come "to fulfill their Messianic hopes." In order to lend weight to his pretended mission he celebrated with great pomp and solemn ceremony. Shebbat eventually accepted Mohammedanism to escape punishment at the hands of the Sultan of Turkey, 17th Century.

BILLY TOWNSEND STARTS TRAINING

Vancouver Lightweight Preparing for Return Bout With Santiago at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 21.—Billy Townsend, Vancouver lightweight ace, who arrived here several days ago for his return match with Armando Santiago, hard-hitting Cuban lightweight, has installed himself in Dempsey's Manhattan gymnasium for his training grind in preparation for the bout.

Santiago is occupying Soper's Ranch, some forty miles out of town, as his training quarters.

Jack Allen, who is handling Townsend's ring affairs, has engaged Leo Lomelli, Mexican lightweight, and Eddie Thomas, of Bellingham, as Townsend's sparring partners, and plans on adding a couple of more for the final week's work.

The Townsend-Santiago bout, which is scheduled for April 1, is being hailed as the hottest match of the season, and holds the centre of interest in the Coast sports billed for the next few weeks.

The Olympic auditorium has been scaled to hit $30,000 at the prevailing prices, and a complete sell-out seems a certainty.

Poor Condition of Course Again Halts Speed Trial

Tomorrow Will Be Earliest Possible Time for Next Test—British Driver Satisfied With Condition of Iron Steed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 21.—Kaye Don, British racing driver, announced tonight that the poor condition of the beach would prevent him from attempting to break the world speed record of 201 miles an hour before Sunday at the earliest, and possibly Monday.

The beach was inspected late today by a committee of racing officials. Later they said the sandy and Coaster over the racing schedule as well as the conditioning of the big machine were understood to have been partially ironed out over the night at a conference with Val Haresnape, speedway director, and other officials. It was reported Haresnape served an ultimatum on the Britons to patch up their differences or have the official sanction for the speed trials withdrawn.

A break between Kaye Don, British driver, and Louis Costello, designer of the Silver Bullet, which threatened to put an abrupt end to their quest for the world's automobile speed record, apparently has been averted today, for the time being.

Difficulties arising as a result of sharp disagreement between Don and Costello over the racing schedule as well as the conditioning of the big machine were understood to have been partially ironed out over the night at a conference with Val Haresnape, speedway director, and other officials. It was reported Haresnape served an ultimatum on the Britons to patch up their differences or have the official sanction for the speed trials withdrawn.

Ex-National Club Arbitrator Named Third Man in Ring Boys Will Work Out Tonight

Dai W. Davies has been selected by Nat Druxman, who is looking after the interests of Jackie Caston while Joe Waterman is in the South, to act as third man in the ring Monday night at the Crystal Garden. Davies and Jackie Caston met in their ten-round bout for the Pacific Northwest bantamweight championship.

Several names were submitted for Druxman's consideration, but in his letter to Manager A. H. Cowlishaw he stated that he has interviewed Eddie Herman and Harry Ketchell, who both fought here with Davies as the third man in the ring, and they were quite pleased with the way he handled the bouts. B.C. Champs Beaten By Port Arthur, 4-1 In Deciding Battle

Ports Enter Final for Canadian Senior Hockey Championship by Taking Series 5-4—Overtime Session Necessary to Decide Winners

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 21.—The hockey revolt that sprung up from the little mountain stronghold of Trail, B.C., was rudely crushed tonight. Port Arthur seniors, proud rulers of amateur hockey in Canada, humbled by 4-1 the Trail Smoke Eaters, who had scored a defiant 3-1 victory Wednesday.

By a lone goal on the two-game round, the Western Canada title was won by the Port Arthur team, who had only in overtime was defeat imposed on the valiant smelter men, who have four times gained the British Columbia championship to be ousted each time before the Western title could be gained.

Two youngsters and a "pair of veterans" made the standouts as the lakehead men erased the two-goal lead set up by the Westerners, and then set up a margin of their own. "Phat" Wilson, who has played in three Allan Cup teams, and Frank Hacquell, were the old-timers who shone in the hard won victory. Hubby Johnny Salonen and Goalie Gordon Hacquell were the youngsters who did their bit.

While the fighting Westerners peppered the net with dead-on shots, young Hacquell did not falter. The lad who collapsed in the midst of last Wednesday's game with a nervous breakdown, came through perfectly when his mates threatened to yield before the steadily systematic Trail attack. He missed but one of almost eighty drives and he had no chance to make the stop.

Two of the port's quartette of tallies came from the stout stick of Johnny Salonen, speedy right-winger, one, as the second period was merely started, developed from a perfect pass-out from the corner by Wilson. The other won the game in the overtime when he bundled the puck and Goalie Garland into the hemp after a pass-out from Port Arthur's Salonen. He lodged in the netman's skates.

By counting the goal that tied up the round in the opening period, Wilson displayed the game's prettiest individual tally. He sifted through the Trail team and backhanded the puck over Garland's shoulder.

Though Frank Hacquell failed to enter the actual scoring he ranged the length of the ice as dangerously as his companion on the port rear-guard. It was the steady threat of the defender's long sallies, far more than the improved systematic play of the ports, that served to put a crimp in the continued machine moves of the Westerners.

Dearer Money Makes Bulls Walk Warily at N.Y., but Bear Attack Is Repulsed

NEW YORK, March 21.—The bull movement on the stock market was forced to hurdle a barrier of higher money today, but acquitted itself with fair success. Speculators for the advance, who have grown increasingly aggressive under the stimulating influence of cheap money, this week, concluded that the higher charges would be but temporary.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent as compared to yesterday's 2 per cent renewal rate, the lowest in years, and advanced successively to 4 and then 4 1/2 per cent.

Heavy selling profit taking swept into the market around midday, and bears launched selling drives against a small group of issues. Bulls regained control of the price movement late in the afternoon, however, and closing prices were mostly higher, net gains running from 1 to nearly 8 points in the more active issues.

The market activity centered in several of the old standbys, such as American Telephone and U.S. Steel. Both reached high levels for the recovery in the early trading, slipped back around midday and rallied toward the close, U.S. Steel reaching its best level in the last hour at 191, up more than 4 points.

Oils were again brought forward in the late trading. About a dozen were sent up to tops for the year, including Standard of New Jersey, which touched 69, up 2 1/2.

National Cash Register joined the group of bear favorites, selling off about 7 points to a low for the year. Foreign exchanges were generally firm, sterling cables rising 1-4 cent to $4.86 3/4.

Stiffened money rates brought a lighter demand for bonds today, and prices of most of the leaders in the recent bull market faded in a day of mixed trading. Declines were rather persistent in the railroad division, where losses averaged half a point.

WHEAT MART STRONG EARLY AT CHICAGO

Highest Prices Not Maintained Against Free Profit Taking and Selling Against Offers

CORN FIRMER WITH WHEAT AT START

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, March 21.—The wheat market was strong early in sympathy with sharp upturns in Winnipeg, Liverpool and Buenos Aires, but ran into free profit taking and also selling against offers, and best figures were not maintained.

Liverpool closed 3 to 3 1/2 higher despite the purchase of a full cargo of Russian wheat by England, and equal to $1.06 per bushel. Buenos Aires was 3 1/4 to 3 3/8 higher at midday.

Cables from Buenos Aires and Liverpool reported the upturn there was due to short covering. Prospects of small world's shipments had some effect. Cold wave in American Southwest did not amount to much and the forecast was for rising temperatures. A few dry weather reports were coming again from parts of Kansas and Oklahoma, with forecast and generally fair to unsettled snow reported at points in Kansas during the day.

Winnipeg May has gained sharply on Chicago in the past few days, going to a premium over the local market against discount recently. There was an active foreign demand with sales of around 1,000 carloads in all positions, largely Manitoba.

Corn was firmer with wheat early, but profit taking increased. The increase in country offerings to arrive led to sharp recession in prices to below the finish of the previous day. Argentina acreage was cut about one-third by Broomhall, leaving 9,504,000 acres for harvest, suggesting crop of 275,000,000 bushels based on normal developments.

Oats were firmer early, but reacted later, with corn trade only fair. Rye reacted after being higher with wheat early, but prices averaged 1/2 to 5/8 lower.

Broker Loan Increase Is Large Again

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, March 21.—Brokers' loans increased $121,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday, almost matching their performance of the preceding week, when an increase of $137,000,000 was shown, the Federal Reserve weekly report last night revealed. The total stands now at $3,841,000,000 compared with $3,793,000,000 at this time a year ago.

The $800,000,000 merger project of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation and the Prairie Oil & Gas Company has reached an impasse, according to reports in Wall Street yesterday, that were based primarily on the departure from the city of the two key personalities in the negotiations that have been conducted since last year.
